CANDIDATE MEMBERSHIP IN THE APPRAISAL INSTITUTE OF CANADA

A CRITICAL STEP ON THE PATH TO A CHALLENGING AND REWARDING CAREER...

WHAT IS A CANDIDATE MEMBER?

Candidate members of the Appraisal Institute of Canada (AIC) represent the future of the appraisal profession, individuals who are pursuing the rigorous AIC Program of Professional Studies and preparing to complete the final requirements for one of the Appraisal Institute of Canada's prestigious professional designations.

Admission to candidacy is open only to those who either hold a degree, or who have 10 or fewer remaining requirements for the AACI, P. App designation. To qualify for Candidate membership, you must be of legal age, and have successfully completed the BUSI 330 ~ Foundations of Real Estate Appraisal course (offered through distance education by UBC and other education partners), as well as the AIC We Value Canada workshop (online or classroom version).

Joining as a Candidate entitles you to membership in the Appraisal Institute of Canada (AIC) and the Newfoundland Association of the Appraisal Institute of Canada (NAAIC).

FAST TRACK TO DESIGNATION

Candidates holding a business or commerce degree from a recognized Canadian university are eligible for admission to the AIC/UBC Post-Graduate Certificate in Real Property Valuation (PGCV). This program leads to AACI, P.App designation upon completion of six courses, the Guided Case Study (BUSI 499) and the experience and examination requirements of the Institute. More information about the PGCV can be found at: www.sauder.ubc.ca/re_creditprogram/programs/aic/index.cfm.

Individuals who do not meet the Candidate admission criteria outlined above are encouraged to join AIC in the student member category, as they work toward meeting the Candidate member admission requirements. Individuals in the student category can complete one of several distance degree programs in which AIC course credits may be applied toward the requirements of a business degree. For a complete listing of these programs, see www.sauder.ubc.ca/re_creditprogram/programs/aic/index.cfm.

Candidate members typically work actively in the profession as appraisers-in-training, within the limits defined by AIC's Standards, policies and regulations. Candidates participate in AIC's Professional Liability Insurance program and can take on increasingly complex assignments as they gain expertise and knowledge, under the direction and mentorship of designated members.

THE BENEFITS OF CANDIDATE MEMBERSHIP

AIC membership entitles you to a wide range of services and benefit programs that respond to the diverse needs of the contemporary appraisal professional (for more information, please visit www.aicanada.ca/e/aboutaic_candidate.cfm).

OBLIGATIONS OF CANDIDATE MEMBERS

1. Candidates are advanced students of the AIC program who are actively pursuing one of the AIC's professional designations.
2. As full members of AIC, Candidates are accorded certain privileges including the right to prepare and take limited responsibility for appraisal reports under the supervision of a designated member.
3. Candidates are non-designated members and should not hold themselves out as appraisers or do anything that conveys the notion that they are qualified to render services covered under the Appraisal Institute of Canada's standards of professional appraisal practice on their own.
4. Candidates must be insured for errors and omissions in accordance with AIC's bylaws, and if they are signing appraisal reports or similar documents they must be registered with a designated member in good standing of AIC who acts as co-signer for said reports. Failure to do so is a breach of the standards of professional practice and invalidates the insurance coverage on the reports.
5. Candidates must be mentored either by the co-signer or another designated member in accordance with AIC's mentoring policies.
6. Candidates must participate in the Applied Experience Program, successfully complete a minimum of one university credit course per year, and complete all the requirements for designation with AIC within a ten-year period from date of becoming a Candidate member, failing which they will forfeit their Candidate status.

HOW TO JOIN

Once you have completed all admission requirements outlined above, forward your application for Candidate membership with all supporting documentation and dues to the Provincial Association or Affiliated Provincial Organization in the province in which you reside.

Contact information and/or links to each Provincial Association (or Affiliated Provincial Organization) web site can be found at www.aicanada.ca/e/aboutaic_provincial.cfm.
